

GRAPES

Grape, King of the North

Apparently an accidental hybrid of Concord and Riparia parents, this strong growing, heavy bearing red wine variety can also be used in juice and jelly production. This grape has great vigor and will require trellising. It is susceptible to Down Mildew but does well when this problem is controlled. It tends to ripen quite late with high acid. The red wine must be finished sweet to balance its high acid.

Photo Credit: Big Sioux Nursery, Inc., Watertown, SD

